WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—
President Roosevelt announced today
Postmaster General James A. Farley will take a leave of absence from his cabinet post beginning August 1 and devote all his time to the New Deal election campaign until after the balloting in November.

First Assistant Postmaster General
William E. Howes, of South Dakota, will act as head of the department
during Farley's absence.

Farley, who had a two-hour luncheon conference with his chief yesterday, was not ready tonight to talk of his campaign plans. He will discuss the election drive at a press conference soon, probably tomorrow morning.

Mr. Roosevelt told of Farley's campaign status at his press conference.
He referred to the democratic national chairman as "Jim," adding it went without saying that Farley would not receive pay during the period of his absence.

The reason the genial postmaster is delaying his departure from the cabinet until August 1 is that he wants to clear up the department's profit-and-loss statement for the fiscal year which ended June 30, Mr.

Roosevelt said.

The President was indefinite as to exactly when Farley will resume his duties, saying merely that it would be some time after the election.

Under this arrangement Farley appeared.

of Dr. Parkes Cadman

ALBANY, N. Y., July 7.—(AP)— With members of his family at the side, Dr. S. Parkes Cadman clung to the same determination that carried him from Shropshire miner lad England to internationally known genitor.

Verditors complicated his grave-ness and surgeons held in abeyance to remove the ruptured appendix.
Cadman underwent appendectomy
yesterday night in the Chapman Memorial hospital, but attending surgeons said his "very critical" condition precluded relief beyond the introduction of two rubber tissue drains.

Dr. Lyman G. Barton Jr., who performed the operation, said tonight that 71-year-old clergyman was "fully well when he was last night."

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 7.—(AP)— Representative Joseph Lee, of Norman, former University of Oklahoma public speaking professor, and Gomer Smith, national Townsend Plan vice president, pulled steadily ahead in early unofficial returns tonight in their race for the congressional representative positions.

Trailing them were blind Senator T.
P. Gore, incumbent, and Governor
E. W. Marland.

Only two will be eligible for the runoff primary July 28.

In unofficial returns from 1,079 precincts of the state's 3,111, Lee polled 50,193 votes, Smith, 32,947; Marland designed to give the books only to pupils of the first six grades. Dr. M. D. Collins, state school superintendent, and L. A. Whipple and S. D. Trout, board members, were on a committee to purchase the books.

Committee Faces Task.

Dr. Collins said that the state had $400,000 on hand to buy the books and that there are 597,000 pupils of the first six grades in the state's public schools.

Under the resolution adopted by the board of education the money will be used to purchase books for reading, writing, arithmetic and spelling.

If four books are purchased for the approximately 600,000 pupils the committee will be faced with the task of providing 2,400,000 books for the $400,000. So it must purchase them for less than 20 cents each.

The bear tax have been collected for three years and have been kept in the treasury. An attempt was made last fall to start the purchase of the books but Governor Talmadge is understood to have stopped the movement because he considered the funds on hand insufficient to make a favorable showing.

Rivers Pleased.

Informed of the action of the school board, Senator Rivers said:

"I am glad to know that the board of education has finally decided to use the bear money for free schoolbooks as provided in the law enacted by the general assembly.

The money has been lying idle for more than a year and the books should have been in service months ago. However, it is apparent that the income from the bear is not enough to provide books for all of the pupils, so we will have to do something to help all of the pupils."

Although the action of the school board held the political spotlight yesterday considerable interest was developed in the first stump speech of his campaign to be delivered by Sen-

FACTIONAL FIGHT CHARGED BY WRIGHT

ATHENS, Ga., July 7.—(AP)—Tate Wright, campaign manager for Judge Blanton Fortson, candidate for governor, said today "Georgia democrats are not interested in the political fight between Senate President Charles D. Rivers and House Speaker E. D. Rivers over who is responsible for the failure of the last legislature to pass an appropriations bill."

"Georgians are interested only in restoring their government to the people and they know Fortson will do it."

"Everyone knows that Senator Rivers and President Rivers were reckoned on their respective positions in the legislature by Governor Talmadge."

"If these two officers of the legislature, who were both reported campaigning for governor at the time the legislature was in session, could not submerge their political ambitions in the interests of the state as a whole, no one can expect them to do so if elevated to the governorship."

"Georgia democrats are turning their eyes to Washington, Wilkes county, where next Saturday Blanton Fortson opens his speaking campaign for the democratic nomination for governor."

FAA Has Authority.
If Washington fails to appoint the wine tax collector to help protect its legislative efforts to develop of Georgia-made wines from Georgia-grown grapes, fruits or berries, then the Federal Alcohol Administration, which has been given authority by congress, can establish its own law-enforcement agency. The wine tax, the alcohol administration's bulletin advised the press yesterday to importers of wine to Georgia that a test case may be litigated and the constitutionality of Georgia wine law laid before the United States supreme court for a decision.

Text of Proclamation.
The full text of the proclamation to liquor permit holders follows:

"The attention of permittees is invited to the fact that all basic permits issued under the Federal Alcohol

Administration act are conditioned not only upon compliance with the fair trade practice provisions of the act, but likewise upon compliance with the 21st amendment, and laws relating to the enforcement thereof and with all other federal laws relating to the importation, sale and malt beverages, including taxes with respect thereto. "The 21st amendment to the constitution provides, in section 2, that 'the transportation or importation into any state, territory or possession of the United States for delivery or use of persons into the possession of persons in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.' In view of this fact the administration will be required by the terms of the Federal Alcohol Administration act to institute suspension or revocation proceedings against permittees who violate the laws of the transportation or importation of intoxicating liquor into any state for delivery or use therein in violation of state law."

"In this connection the administration's attention has been directed to the fact that the laws of certain states permit citizens of the state to purchase wine grown within the state, but at the same time prohibit the shipment of any wine into the state. It is not the function of the Federal Alcohol Administration to express any opinion upon the constitutionality of these provisions of state law, and unless and until such laws have been held by the courts to be invalid, the administration will regard such laws as binding upon all permit holders whose operations are conditioned upon compliance with the 21st amendment."

"(Signed) W. S. ALEXANDER," "Administrator."

Prosecution Threatened.
Federal officials in Atlanta yesterday declared that wine dealers who continue to import fortified California wine into Georgia, in spite of a warning, will render themselves liable to prosecution as soon as the alcohol administration determines on a plan of accomplishment.

Manufacturers of wine who ship their products into Georgia, it was said, also would render themselves liable to indictments on conspiracy charges along with the importers within the state.

Georgia's wine laws call for the sale only of wine manufactured from Georgia-grown grapes, fruits or berries, and the alcohol content is limited only to the content developed in the natural processes of fermentation.

The wines that are being shipped into the state supply the innumerable wine and beer shops that have sprung up throughout Georgia are mostly classified as fortified wine. This means that alcohol has been added to that produced by the fermentation of grapes. The added alcohol acts as a preservative and permits the wine to be shipped without fear of its spoiling. The alcohol content in some of the fortified wines is said to be as high as 40 per cent.

No Test Case Made.
Wine dealers, in their attacks on the Georgia law permitting the sale only of Georgia-made wine, have declared the law to be unconstitutional, but no one has made a test of it.

Against the theory that such a law is unconstitutional because of its interference with the right of citizens to buy and sell and purchase property, a ruling which is said to have declared that when wine or liquor is made under a federal tax-paid permit, the rights of the citizen no longer exist.

Alcohol tax unit agents and agents of the Department of Justice in Atlanta are being added to the staff dedicated to the methods of enforcement and will let the liquor dealers consult directly with the alcohol administration in Washington until either agency is instructed to help in the enforcement.

Word from Washington yesterday that more than a hundred new agents have been added to the staff of the alcohol tax unit will not affect Georgia's force, Mr. Tuttle said. Only 23 men are allotted to this state to stamp out the moonshiners and this force has not been increased.

ROOSEVELT PROMISES AID TO DROUGHT NEEDY

the relief program has had an opportunity to get under way, to see for himself exactly how much damage has been caused by the drought and whether financial ruined families are receiving the proper assistance.

50,000 Given Aid.

He said that 50,000 farmers are being given immediate jobs on WPA projects at an average wage of $15 per week, carrying out useful work—digging wells, constructing earth dams to hold any rains which may fall in the future, and building farm-to-market roads.

Meanwhile the Agriculture Department designated 97 counties in the spring wheat belt—the Dakotas, eastern Montana and northeastern Wyoming—as "emergency drought counties" in which relief work will be concentrated for the immediate aid.

Pointing out that "the drought situation is most acute" in the northwest wheat area, the department said the designation was for use as a guide by agencies handling the relief problem. Additional counties will be so designated from time to time, the announcement said.

Many in Need.

Mr. Roosevelt, who made the announcement immediately at the conclusion of a conference with Resettlement Administrator Rexford Tugwell, Assistant WPA Administrator Aubrey Williams and Assistant AAA L. L. Nichols, said in his report preliminary reports show 204,500 farm families in need of immediate cash assistance as a result of the drought.

He said that although drought conditions still existed in many portions of the southeast, the bulk of these needy families were in the northwest where areas which undoubtedly had been hardest hit.

WPA employment, Mr. Roosevelt said, will continue until snow makes more work impossible. By continuing this long, he explained, officials hope to allow farmers to accumulate a sufficient income to carry them through a major part of the winter, although additional aid may be necessary before spring.

He pointed out that the official government estimate of crop conditions and harvests will be released Friday, but added that reports indicated the spring wheat crop had been damaged by drought and grasshoppers to such an extent that it would amount to only about 15 per cent of normal.

No Shortage Seen.

He scoffed at reports that drought damage would bring about a shortage of flour. With the drought damage the total wheat crop last spring and spring, probably would be about 600,000,000 bushels, compared with normal domestic consumption of 625,000,000 bushels. There is a carryover of 150,000,000 bushels on hand.

Wheat acreage this year was 10 per cent above the average wheat acreage for 1928-1932, the president said. He saw this as an effective answer to New Deal critics who charged that the prospective wheat shortage was due to government control.

Discussing the problem of feed short-ages, Mr. Roosevelt said the government was making a strenuous effort to leave title to cattle in the hands operating through the Federal Surplus Commodity Corporation, will care for the most needy cases. In addition the government will make every effort to assist breeders who wish to feed their livestock to other areas where feed is plentiful.

Regulations Modified.
Meanwhile, soil conservation program regulations have been modified to permit farmers who planted feed crops as soil conserving crops—the classification they would have been given under original regulations, if not harvested—to harvest them for feed and still receive full soil conservation benefits.

Mr. Roosevelt viewed the drought conditions throughout the great plains area as a long-range disaster which has taken place over a period of several years, rather than a sudden emergency condition. He pointed to the occurrence, with droughts having occurred in recent years to back up his statements.

Date Undecided.

Discussing his prospective inspection trip, the President said he expected to visit both Dakotas and Minnesota, and possibly other states in the area.

He said he had not decided on a date for the trip but that it probably would be in August because the relief program would not be in full swing until then.

He denied there was any political aspect to the trip or that he would make any political speech. Asked if he would make any "historical" speech, however, Mr. Roosevelt said it was possible he might make one in connection with the 75th diamond jubilee celebration of the organization of the territory of the Dakotas.

DANZIG CITY TO SNUB LETTERS FROM LEAGUE

Nazi Leader Declares Commissioner Will Find Self-Socially Ostracized.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, July 7. (P)—Any communications from the League of Nations' high commissioner will find their way quickly to the waste basket, Dr. Arthur Karl Greiser, Nazi head of the Free City's senate, indicated tonight.

Furthermore, it was made plain Sean Lester, the commissioner, will be socially ostracized by the Nazis and any request he may make will be received with stony silence.

Thus, the Nazi spokesman disclosed, it wishes to demonstrate the League commissioner is "more than superfluous" in the conduct of Danzig affairs.

Lester came back home today from Geneva, where Dr. Greiser, before the League of Nations council, gave the Nazi salute thumb's up nose at newspapermen and demanded a change in League's attitude with Danzig.

Coincidentally, Nazi leaders hinted they would not invite Lester to any social functions under their auspices or those of the government. The Nazi press was forbidden to mention his return.

Copies of the Volkzeitung, organ of the oppositional Catholic center party, were confiscated today.

(The official press of Poland, which has jurisdiction over Danzig harbor and customs, announced today separation of the Free City from the League of Nations was "not acceptable to Poland."

The declaration came after Colonel Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister, had returned to Warsaw from Germany.

Bank Is Able To Pay After Long Receivership

NEWARK, N. J., July 7. (P)—A bank which has been in receivership for 50 years is in a position today to pay depositors a dividend as well as the full amount of their deposit.

Charles C. Pilgrim, receiver for the Newark savings institution, proposed such a liquidation in plans submitted to Vice Chancellor Bigelow today for the location of owners whose deposits have laid unclaimed for more than half a century.

His counsel told the court that $30,295 was available to meet deposits of $26,540. They proposed that the balance be used to advertise for the missing depositors, pay administration costs and cover the dividend.

F. D. R. SEEKS TO FIND USE FOR TWO PROJECTS

University May Get Florida Ship Canal Buildings To Train Teachers.

WASHINGTON, July 7. (P)—A quest by the administration to find some use to which equipment acquired in connection with the congressionally-disapproved Florida ship canal and Passamaquoddy power projects could be made was described today by President Roosevelt.

The President said at a press conference that negotiations were under way with the University of Florida to take over structures built in connection with the canal project and that he was working to find some way to use buildings erected as part of the Passamaquoddy tidal power project in Maine.

The Florida negotiations are with a view to allowing the university to use buildings near Ocala as an extension school for the training of teachers the year around.

Mr. Roosevelt said that no plan for utilization of "Quoddy" village had been found but that he expected a solution would be found.

The two projects were started by executive order last year. Congress refused to appropriate funds for continuation as provided in the War Department supply bill. An effort to amend the deficiency bill so that boards of review could be set up to examine the worth of the projects failed when the Senate rejected "Quoddy" and the House disapproved the Florida canal board which the Senate had favored.

It was originally estimated the canal would cost $146,000,000 and the "Quoddy" project $42,000,000. Approximately $3,400,000 was spent on the canal and $7,000,000 on "Quoddy" before Congress refused to provide additional funds.

SHOOTS WIFE, THEN SELF.

WAYNESBORO, Miss., July 7. (P)—Sheriff H. G. Norsworthy reported today that Cecil Foster, 29, shot his wife, Mrs. Velma Foster, about 12:30 at the home of her mother here where she fled after an argument and then fired into his own body.

BOY, 2, BITES DOG.

SHREVEPORT, La., July 7. (P)—Larry Thomas Cobb, aged two, followed his mother's example of being a man bites dog. His parents said today the boy bit off a portion of the tail of his spitz puppy. The puppy snuck around the house today.

Violations of Traffic Rules

REPORTER TAKES NOTE OF INFRACTIONS AT FORSYTH AND ALABAMA STREETS

FORSYTH-ALABAMA CORNER

Twenty-nine motorists violated traffic laws within a 30-minute period yesterday afternoon by making left-hand turns without the proper signal at Alabama and Forsyth streets, the no-traffic-light corner beside The Constitution building. Almost half of the 61 left-hand turns observed at the corner between 12:30 and 1 o'clock were made illegally. Examples of carelessness, discourtesy and unlawful driving were noted by a reporter representing The Constitution Safety Council. A partial list of the infractions of law and courtesy, as observed by the reporter, follows:

12:30 o'clock: Driver of a blue tudor sedan, coming south on Forsyth, made a left-hand turn into Alabama without the proper signal.

12:34 o'clock: Driver of a black sedan double-parked for about four minutes on the southeast corner of the intersection.

12:36 o'clock: Woman in a black sedan failed to signal with her left hand as she turned from Alabama into Forsyth, proceeding south after turning right.

12:37 o'clock: Driver of a black sedan with green wheels, made a similar turn without signaling.

12:38 o'clock: Motorist in a brown sedan, followed closely by another in a black tudor sedan, turned into east Alabama from north Forsyth without signaling.

12:39 o'clock: A patrolman parently has not yet been forced to bow to President Roosevelt's order to withdraw his campaign committee from government workers. Those who practiced law before government departments would have to disassociate themselves from one or the other of the jobs. Presumably the campaign manager will be able to step back into the cabinet after the election.

The President purred questions to whether Farley, after August 1, could admit candidates for nomination from government workers. Republicans recently have made political capital of the fact that letters signed by Farley have been used in attempts to raise funds. Farley has replied that any use of his signature in this manner was done without his knowledge.

To a reporter who now solicit campaign funds from government workers the President replied with a question asking whether he was soliciting such money.

Jokingly he added that the correspondent was a better lawyer than he was.

TENNESSEE TO PROBE STATE INSTITUTIONS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 7. (UPI)—A sweeping investigation of all public and private institutions in Tennessee was launched today, close on the heels of revelations of brutality and poor living conditions at the Tennessee Agricultural and Training school.

Following sensational exposures of "flogging" of youthful inmates of the training school Dr. W. E. Jones Jr. and Dr. R. J. Rutherford, special welfare experts of the University of Tennessee, were authorized to conduct the sweeping inquiry.

County poorhouses as well as private and state-maintained institutions will be checked by the state's under-sponsorship of the state planning commission. The survey is intended to ferret out anti-social, inhumane and wasteful conditions, bearing on education and human courage and morale, it was announced.

AIR MAIL SERVICE WILL BE SPEEDED

Letters Will Be Flown To Buenos Aires in 4 and 1-2 Days.

WASHINGTON, July 7. (P)—The Postoffice Department announced today speeding up of air mail schedules on Central and South American routes.

The mails will be carried from Miami to Buenos Aires, Argentina, in approximately 4-12 days, the announcement said, with service from Miami to Barranquilla, Colombia—by way of Havana, Cuba, and Kingston, Jamaica—in 9-34 hours.

Twice-weekly service will be offered on the Rio Grande air mail route, with flights from Miami to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, by way of the east coast of South America, in five days. One of the northbound flights will be made in four days.

Arrangements have also been made for air mail service from Arica, Chile, on the present route to La Paz, Bolivia, the department said. The American route will maintain close connections with the domestic air routes of Colombia and Honduras.

The department said the South American service combined with connections between Miami and Brownsville, Texas, would give "a highly efficient air mail service" to Mexico and all countries of Central and South America and the West Indies.

ROME OFFICIALS DENY AMBUSH OF ITALIANS

LONDON, July 7. (P)—Reports which Italian officials denied, tonight, stated eight or nine Italian officers, among them the famous flyer, Antonio Locatelli, had been killed in an Ethiopian ambush.

(In Rome it was stated officially the reports were not true.)

The reports, which the Reuter's (British) news agency said came from unofficial sources, asserted the officers were killed as soon as they landed in three planes to establish a garrison at the request of Jimma province residents.

of inciting to riot and attempting to reorganize dissolved groups such as the Croix de Feu.

A court opened a "John Doe" investigation into charges that Colonel De La Roque, a police chief, and other chiefs of the so-called fascist forces had summoned their followers to demonstrate in Sunday's clash at the Champs Elysees, in which scores of persons were injured. De La Roque himself disclaimed any intention of starting sanguinary rebellions.

Several Injured.

The tenseness of the political situation resulted in a careful watch by troops and gendarmes at Ajaccio, Corse, where several persons were injured in clashes last night.

On the financial front the finance minister, Vincent Auriol, disclosed the government intends to break control of the Bank of France by "two hundred families."

"We must not forget," he said, "the German danger and the World War atrocities. Every man must be fair to admiring German heroism and abnegation during the war and the ultimate effort at post-war reconstruction."

No Peace Possible.

"No peace or stability is possible in Europe unless there exists peace and stability between Germany and France, but this last point can not be attained so long as France gives the impression of being divided and uncertain of her ways."

For labor, De La Roque agreed with the Blum government on minimum salaries, paid vacations and higher social insurance, but he differed with the leftists on the 40-hour week.

His party ranges itself with the rightists in a demand for a "strong, efficient and modern national defense."

ATLANTA, GA., JULY 8, 1936.

RAMSPECK'S VALUE

Few congressional districts in the country have as much to gain by the return of their present representatives to the next congress as does the fifth district of Georgia, represented by Representative Robert Ramspeck, of Atlanta.

The Constitution has often called attention to the importance of keeping in congress men who have rendered efficient and diligent service, and who, because of the seniority rule governing committee memberships in both the house and senate, are afforded enlarged opportunity for service with each new session.

Representative Ramspeck is chairman of the important civil service committee of the house and has rendered outstanding and far-reaching service in that position. He is also a member of other prominent committees.

Should he be replaced, his successor would, following the seniority rule, be placed at the bottom of any committee to which he should be appointed. Seniority carries with it tremendous prestige, and the district served is benefited accordingly.

Especially for this reason, and in view of Representative Ramspeck's splendid record in office, he should be returned. If he had in any way failed to efficiently perform his duties, the situation would be different, but in view of his highly satisfactory service, and of the opportunity for strengthened leadership under the seniority rule, failure to re-elect him would be to the detriment of the district.

The Constitution has nothing to say against the ability or the character of his opponents, but we do say that it is to be regretted that they have entered the race against a public servant so clearly entitled to re-election and whose continuance in office will be so advantageous to the district.

PURGING THE BAR

The approval by the court of appeals of Georgia of the disbarment by three Fulton county judges of a lawyer convicted of illegal and unethical practices is of far-reaching importance in that it is a sweeping decision upholding the rights of the courts to deprive lawyers of the right to practice.

In his appeal from the decision of the three-judge Fulton court, the convicted lawyer took the position that the court acted beyond its authority in disbarring him from practice, but the court of appeals holds that since an attorney admitted to practice is an officer of the court,
"the courts may by virtue of an inherent power vested in them, suspend, discipline or disbar such attorney."

The decision of the court of appeals opens the way for the bar association and the courts to proceed more rapidly and efficiently to disbar crooked lawyers, whose activities are not only a reflection upon their profession, but who make it a business to milk the public.

These unscrupulous lawyers stop at no ends in preying on the public. On several occasions the Fulton county grand jury has unearthed facts pertaining to their activities that read more like fiction than truth. It has been proven time and again that these crooks, operating under the protection of their right to practice in the courts,
right to claim 25,000,000 votes.

With the three presidential tickets either liberal or tending to the left, the right doesn't seem to carry
the old punch, unless you count
Schmeling's.

Even in its technical intervals,
the supreme court never said a third party hasn't the constitutional right to claim 25,000,000 votes.

have not hesitated to fabricate evidence and suborn perjury in order to gain for themselves and clients settlements from their victims.

Under the courageous and fearless attack of Solicitor General Boykin many of these unscrupulous members of the Atlanta bar have been disbarred and sentenced to the chain gang. His splendid work in the conduct of these cases, and the fact that his course has been upheld by the court of appeals in its recent decision, entitles him to the unanimous commendation of the courts and the public.

The Atlanta Bar Association has cooperated actively and vigorously with Solicitor Boykin in his determined fight to protect the public from this evil. Its leaders have time and again sought to have the association incorporated, as has been done in other states, in order that it might have authority to pursue its own ranks.

Certainly no steps should be left untaken by the rank and file of the ethical and upright lawyers of Georgia to put a stop to activities that are a reflection upon their profession and an inexcusable burden upon the business establishments that are usually the victims of the fake damage suits cooked up by men who, in the last analysis, constitute a more serious threat to the public welfare than do gangsters or other organized criminals.

If the other prosecuting attorneys of Georgia will follow the courageous example of Solicitor Boykin, and the state and local bar associations will continue their efforts to cleanse their profession of these crooks, the decision of the court of appeals will make it easier that it has been to put an end to these nefarious activities.

THE WATERWORKS FUND

The solution of what will in the near future become a serious problem is sought in the application by Mayor Key to the Public Works Administration for a fund of $690,000

with which to construct a new settling basin and extend the purification system of the city waterworks.

The mayor is to be congratulated for his initiative in the effort to solve this problem before it becomes critical. There is encouragement in the friendly and sympathetic attitude to the request taken by Miss Shepperson, PWA state director.

There is no threat at this time to the purity of the city's water supply, but even now the system is working at practically full capacity, with but little more water than is daily necessary being piled up during slack hours to meet the inability of the purification plant to meet the demand upon it during the hours when the most water is used.

The amount of water used by the city is steadily increasing and it will be only a short time when this increase will bring the daily water consumption to the point where the present facilities of the plant will be unable to supply the demands upon it.

When that time comes, unless steps have been made to enlarge the present settling basins and purification system, the city will be faced with the acute problem of a serious water shortage.

Nothing is more vital to a community than that it have an ample supply of pure water and that its sewage disposal facilities are adequate. The latter problem is now on the way to solution.

Having reached practically the apex of the supply of water the present waterworks system can supply, it is emergent that plans be made at once for the extension and enlargement of the system.

M. Leon Blum's new deal for France brings up the anomalous picture of a gentleman with a spade beard leaning on a shovel.

"With everyone on earth taking part, the molecules in a drop of water could be counted in 10,000 years." The enterprise therefore has been abandoned.

The Bureau of Human Heredity is seeking information as to the peculiar traits of American families.
Any dignified scandal will be listened to attentively.

It must be hard to stand flatfootedly on the party platform as an opposition cartoonist depicts it, with second-hand unmatched lumber.

With the three presidential tick-
left, the right doesn't seem to carry
the old punch, unless you count
Schmeling's.

World's Window

Come to the Cockfight.

Even if the noble pastime of steer killing—like that of newspaper publication—happens to be suspended momentarily in Sevilla on account of a labor dispute, there are plenty of other amusements left. I never knew anyone now in the Spanish who was averse to the cockfighting game.

"Cock-fighting?" I said to my friends in Sevilla, "but that's silly and barbarous."

"Don't talk like an idiotic Englishman," they replied with heat. "It's a question of national honor. There is no nobler sport, nor a more honest one than cockfighting. It is the only sport that leaves no chance for corruption. Football, being even ballfighting is a rooster, a gladiator, who goes into battle to meet victory or death.

He does not care a rap about laurels or reward. He never postpones or abandons the fight, but the national pride of the Spaniards, but I always looked upon the chicken race as about
the most stupid 'critters' on earth.

Naturally, I did not say this to my friends in Sevilla. I pretended to be interested in the cockfighting game.

I do not want to be disrespectful to roosters, and least of all the national pride of the Spaniards, but I always looked upon the chicken race as about
the most stupid 'critters' on earth.

"I don't know," I said, "but I believe in Millett's 'lance' batter
expedition. Drawing man's inspiration from the cockfighting game is but one
of them."

On the way to the arena, a lawyer said to me still in the praise of roosters. "Did you know that the cockfighting was a beloved game of the ancient Greeks and that Themistocles, before the battle of Salamis, ordered cockfights held all over Athens in order to teach the Greeks to fight until the death, did you know that?"

"I don't know," I said, "but I believe in Millett's 'lance' batter
expedition. Drawing man's inspiration
from the cockfighting game is but one
of them."

Another 25 per cent rise in the price of wheat is not inconceivable to the minds of the experts here, if the situation develops its most serious possibilities.

Note—The possible effects on cattle, cotton and corn-hog prices are not yet considered to be serious. Cattle and meat prices may go down temporarily if farmers flood the market with steers they are unable to feed. That is what happened during the last drouth. Of course, this would mean much higher prices later on.

POLITICAL NOTE

Some political guessers suspect the drouth may help the union party candidate, Mr. Lemke, to carry his home state and enlarge his poll in near-dry states. They figure that bad times will rouse the farmer-labor wrath, but they really do not know yet how much money the New Dealers will put into the area to cool off the wrath.

DEPARTURE Another New Deal agency is silently folding up and departing. The Bituminous Coal Commission has been a "commission without a commission," but not without hope, since the failure of the Guffey bill. Indefinite furloughs are being given to employees in expectation that some day the commission may be re-established.

The commission is therefore merely adjourning sine die without having issued a single binding order in its year of existence.

Note—On the office wall of a departing commissioner is an autographed photograph of young Senator Rush Holt, whose filibuster prevented continuance of the commission.

TRIBUTE A congressional leader will tell you off the record that the Holt filibuster against the Guffey bill could have been broken up, but the leaders did not really want the bill.

Their unannounced reason was that they thought the supreme court majority was right, for once. The court majority said in invalidating the original Guffey act that congress would never have wanted price-fixing to stand without the labor provisions.

EXIT Securities and Exchange Commissioner Ross is understood to have purchased a one-way ticket when he went to Seattle recently. It is not much of a secret that he has not been getting on amicably with the rest of the commission.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

BY PAUL MALLON.

TEMPERATURES WASHINGTON, July 7.—Messrs. Wallace and Hopkins have been rushing to the aid of the drouth areas so fast they are already a couple of miles ahead of the technical forecasters who are trying to find out the ultimate scope and effect of it.

One as yet can have any final opinion of what it may mean economically or politically. At present the situation is probably being over-dramatized in the public mind.

However, if blighted farms continue to run temperatures of 106 to 110 degrees, as they have during the past few days, it will not take long to burn up a nationally important portion of the crops. The next two weeks can develop tremendous damage. But if cooler weather develops, even without rain, the seriousness of the problem may remain in doubt for some time. And, of course, a few good rains would wash out the apprehensions of the calamitists.

In other words, the thermometer is just as important as the barometer right now, and both are more important than any statements being uttered hereabout.

SHIFT What business wants to know is what the effect will be on farm purchasing power. Offhand, it would appear to be small on a national scale.

For one thing, Mr. Hopkins is going to furnish immediate WPA jobs to farmers, who would not have sold their crops for weeks yet, even if they had good ones. For another, farmers in other areas are going to get some advantage out of the higher prices. In central and eastern areas, wheat is planted much earlier than in the drouth regions of the west. This wheat is past the stage where drouth could damage it materially, or in areas where no drouth has been noticed.

Thus, relief plus price increases may keep general farm purchasing power at a fairly balanced level. There is only one intangible reason why it may not. When calamity strikes, farmers instinctively button up their pocketbooks, like everyone else.

At any rate, the situation certainly means shifting of farm income from the northwest to the central and eastern wheat belts.

BREAD Most of the wheat market experts are saying that the price effects have been wholly discounted in the market. This is true only for the present. An increase of about 25 per cent has been noted during the last month in the grain markets, where the experts always know what is coming even before the farmer does. The far-sighted market seers, however, now have their eyes fixed on Canada. The effects of the drouth there will largely determine future price movements here.

Another 25 per cent rise in the price of wheat is not inconceivable to the minds of the experts here, if the situation develops its most serious possibilities.

Note—The possible effects on cattle, cotton and corn-hog prices are not yet considered to be serious. Cattle and meat prices may go down temporarily if farmers flood the market with steers they are unable to feed. That is what happened during the last drouth. Of course, this

LIMITATION OF TAXES IS DEBATED AT GRIFFIN

W. T. Anderson, Judge Persons Argue Issue Before Mayors' Parley.

GRIFFIN, Ga., July 7. (AP)—The proposed 15-mile tax limitation was pictured as a political device before the district Mayors' Association today as an aid to tangible property owners and a measure which would throw finances of counties and cities into confusion.

The debaters were W. T. Anderson, editor of the Macon Telegraph, who favored the proposal, and Judge Ogden Persons, of the Flint circuit, opposed it.

In addition to the charge the measure would create financial confusion, Judge Persons said it would close many schools and otherwise hinder proper social service expected of the government.

The judge said it was "just a smoke-screen" to hide a contemplated sales tax, which he classed as "the enemy of the poor man and the blessing of the rich man."

Anderson said the value of tangible property, which he called "seeable" property, and the value of intangible property which he called "unseeable" was the same—about $2,000,000,000—but the tangible property paid more than $40,000,000 in taxes and intangible only $20,000.

He said the tax commission had a plan to offset revenue lost by tax limitation, but that it would not be disclosed at present. The Macon publisher added the tax commission chairman assured him a sales tax was not coming.

The Flint jurist said the proposed amendment was so worded no one could understand it and that it was dangerous in that it defeated local self-government. He predicted its adoption would result in a "dictatorship in Atlanta that would control every community in Georgia."

Chairman of Columbus district governor of the Works Progress Administration, revealed that as of April 30, the federal government had set aside, or invested, $80,000,000 in unemployment relief in Georgia since July 1933.

Cash said he thought it was "generally agreed that when all of the projects planned have been completed they will represent a betterment to communities that could not have been enjoyed for many years to come without federal assistance."

He said highway and street improvements were meant for about 38 per cent of expenditures of federal and local funds under WPA, and that the farm-to-market road program, as of May 15, had shown 345 miles of road work completed, and construction under way on an additional 1,852 miles. He said a checkup in counties where 1,808 miles of such roads are completed or under construction showed they would serve 23,980 farms and 262,149 individuals, and that the roads would lead into 780 communities and reach 722 schools and 971 churches.

U. S. WOULD STABILIZE NAVAL STORES CROPS

Payments Offered Operators for Curtailment of Areas in Production.

Joseph C. Kircher, southern regional forester, announced yesterday a program to stabilize the naval stores industry by offering payments to operators to curtail production and to promote conservation.

He said the program will be inaugurated immediately by the United States forest service and that co-operation on the part of producers will be entirely voluntary.

A meeting of forest service officials and representatives of the industry will be held at Valdosta on July 8, at 11 o'clock; in the town hall at Savannah on July 9, 10:30 o'clock; at Jacksonville on July 10 and at Pensacola on July 11.

Wallace Authorized.

Kircher said Wallace authorized the program following a conference with Robert M. Newton, of Wiggins, Miss., representing the American Turpentine Farmers' Association.

"The program is simple," Kircher said. "Producers desiring to co-operate will cease chipping on 25 per cent of the faces on or before July 15 and will remove the chips on or before August 1.

"The cups to be removed must be in solid blocks, otherwise government checkers will be unable to inspect on the reduction that has been made. Operators and factorage houses will be furnished with 'worn shirt' forms to report the reduction. These forms will be submitted to the regional forester at Atlanta."

Three Supervisors.

The program will be administered for the forest service by three supervisors, John M. Tinker, Savannah; T. N. Busch, Jacksonville, and Joseph W. also, Pensacola.

Consolidated payments will be made after November 1 to producers who carry out the approved practice relative to trees currently being worked, Kircher said.

Rates will be as follows: For faces .06 inches or less in height, four cents through to .10 inches, five cents; in .10, in eight, two and half cents a face. Measurements will be taken vertically between lowest point of wound face (first wound of virgin face) and highest point of wound (shoulder side of streak).

The territory embraced in the naval stores belt extends from New Orleans to Texas, South Georgia is the scene of the majority of the industry's operations in the entire area.

Erudite Professors Proud of Nicknames

Judging from the smile, Dr. Cullen B. Gosnell, professor of political science at Emory, doesn't seem to mind a nickname, "The Goose," that is one of the most popular on the campus. He is shown on the right proudly displaying a picture of his baseball hero, "Goose" Goslin, for whom he was named, to Professor J. G. Stipe, registrar, who possesses a name, "Graveyard," that has been used by students since 1913. Staff photo by H. J. Slayton.

Emory Professor With Nickname Has Won Approval of Students

By WELLINGTON McCONNELL

This name may be followed by a string of degrees that require a second line, but to students at Emory University he is "Butch." "The Goose," "Graveyard," or just plain "Flossie."

Nicknames are as typical of college life as final exams. Sometimes with amazing irony or half-concealed fondness, but more often in a spirit that attempts to bridge the gap between two levels of knowledge, have given to their thoughts and dignified professors nicknames that successfully weather periods of antagonism, indifference and acceptance. It may be a sobriquet spoken with a reverent humor, such as that of the famed "Mr. Chips"; it may be a means of expressing the student's utter content for the teacher especially around exam time, but to the graduate it is a sure means of recalling happy and amusing incidents of his college career. Always "Foxy."

Some names and positions receive appellations that are common to most campuses. Any president is known as "prexy," and Dr. Harvey W. Cox is no exception. Miss Margaret Jemison, librarian, was christened upon her advent on the campus as "Maggie." It is believed to be her first name, and Hobart S. Parker, Emory graduate of 1905 and prominent Atlanta attorney, first called Professor E. K. Turner, professor of Latin, "Zek," a corruption of his initials.

Dr. Charles J. Hilkey, of the Lamar School of Law, is "Deanie Weanie" to his students, some scholar in past days not being content with just "dean."

Several other initials in addition to those of Dr. Turner have given rise to nicknames. Dean H. R. Paty being known as "Rah Rah" and Professor N. A. Goodyear, professor of romance languages, assuming the pseudoejective title of "Nag," a name which he has passed on to his son Nolan A. Jr. To avoid a less dignified diminutive, Billie Hebe Rebe, acting dean of women, pronounced his middle name "Hebe"; students did likewise, and it is Hebe Rebe who worries with the student over his problems.

"The Goose" is one of the most colorful names at Emory is that of Dr. Cullen B. Gosnell, professor of political science. While coaching baseball several years ago, he eulogized "Goose" Goslin of the Atlanta team, his favorite to his players. Hence "The Goose," a name that even Dr. Gosnell has accepted and used on various occasions.

It was only natural for George H. Mew, treasurer, to become known as "Robber" and "Shylock," and for Professor H. W. Martin, associate professor of psychology, to be called "Psych." Martin by the entire university. Dr. Oscar Oprencimer, of the medical school, probably expected "Oppie" and got it, while Professor Homer Blincoe, professor of gross anatomy, boasts of "Butch," a name spoken both as a benediction and malediction by med fresh.

"Shorty" Candler.

Some names have continued for decades during the rapid rise of the university and have not been forgotten. Bishop Warrenton A. Candler, shining light in the growth of the school for almost 50 years, was known as "Shorty" during his reign as president from 1888 to 1898. Old-timers still remember the name, though students of the present time are more apt to use the more complimentary "The Bishop." Regardless of religious beliefs, there is only one "Bishop" to students on the Emory campus of today.

Two other faculty members received names that have lasted since the turn of the century, Dr. C. E. Boyd, professor of Greek, even boasting the doubtful distinction of two with neither having the lead. A rather lanky youth, Dr. Boyd soon became known to classmates as "Ichabod"; but with a distinctive dress, while courting. The name "Dude" was hung to his elongated frame." Dr. Edgar Johnson, dean of the business administration school, taught the subfreshman class at Oxford soon after graduation; it has been "Sub" Johnson ever since.

If you drop by a dress rehearsal of the Emory Players some night, be prepared for an explosive "Bushwhack" from Dr. Garland G. Smith, director, when the action isn't perfect. The word can be used in any place and company, and can mean anything from a million form of derision to a plea for the wrath of heaven to start among the players.

"Maestro" Dewey.

And it's "The Maestro" to the Glee Club, a name suited to the position of Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey, director. This time a faculty wife was also honored, Mrs. Dewey being "Mama" Dewey to "The Glee."

The dean who early in his college career saw his name "Troy" placed before his name because of his alleged resemblance in status to the bull frog, has the satisfaction of knowing the name is still in use. And from the chemistry building comes the high, nasal voice of "Sput."

The more often used by his fellow faculty members than by students.

Over in the history department some erudite scholar noticed a rather plump, smallish teacher with a lock of hair, near the front of a head that was rapidly losing all traces of vegetation, displaying an inclination to stand straight up. Dubbed

"Kewpie" the name has almost become a campus tradition to the young er graduates.

"Colonel" and "Bullet."

A graduate of the law school, Bob Whittaker, alumni secretary, soon took the title of "Colonel." And due to his quick movements and excess of nervous energy, Professor J. B. Peebles, professor of engineering and mathematics, was likened unto a "bullet."

It is not known how often a nickname is used by a teacher's wife, but Mrs. W. B. Baker, wife of the professor of biology, refers to the "Old Man," a name received by Dr. Baker when fellow students decided he had dignity and seriousness far beyond his years, little knowing that prematurely greying hair would enhance the appropriateness of the sobriquet.

"Bullock" and "Bulldog."

Of lesser fame is "Bullock," young economics instructor whose features easily screamed for such a descriptive name. The Spanish department there is a "Bulldog," a name derived from the teacher's deep voice and bulkish appearance.

And so it goes. New additions to the faculty mean new nicknames for the campus. Years later, perhaps, students of the past few years will remember with pride that they "First thought" names that have turned out to be "Greasy" Sled, "Buttercup" Wager, "Tink" Harwell, "Milquetoast" Walker, and "Bunk" Wager, all graduate instructors at present. Years later will have mellowed and accepted these names that class members use to their faces and students behind their backs.

Then, along with their degrees, it will be "Tink" and "Buttercup" and "Bunk."

The other would cross the Savannah between Augusta and Savannah, Ga.

The other would cross the Savannah between McCormick, S. C., and Lincoln, Ga. It would consist of a single span estimated to cost $300,000 and would be the only one in a 50-mile stretch of river now served by a toll ferry.

Sawyer said South Carolina and Georgia each would pay half the cost of the two bridges. Forty-five per cent of South Carolina's share will come from federal road funds and Georgia also was expected to pay approximately 45 per cent of its share from that source.

Sawyer said a state highway bond

July 22 would provide money for the McCormick-Lincolnton bridge.

"We will be ready to let that bridge any time after the bond sale, and the bridge-Savannah bridge will be let this summer," he said, adding, "I can't say just when either will be let as yet, because Georgia has to complete arrangements to put up its share of the cost."

with the springy legs. And finally, it is all over and the little fellow comes over and shakes hands. "I was lucky," he says.

The other fellow knows he wasn't. Because his legs are gone and he is pretty disgusted with tennis.

Any time the No. 2 star of the great German team wins the first two sets and gets beat there isn't much luck connected with it. But just a lot of good, sound tennis.

OUR MR. APPLING.

Those Nationals finally managed to win one of the all-star baseball games.

But not without a lot of opposition on the part of Atlanta's Luke Appling, of the White Sox. He was named as the best shortstop in the American league and if they had voted generally it would have been named as the best shortstop in baseball.

The American league lost 4 to 3. Luke Appling batted in two of the three American runs. He made no errors and he was on base again with one of the two bases on balls issued by Diz Dean.

Diz Dean, the best pitcher in baseball, and the winner yesterday, worked three innings. Only nine men faced him. He just have been at top form.

The victory of the National league team restored some of the prestige to the all-star game. Another victory by the American league would have left the score in games at four to none.

There was one unusual twist. The Yankees' two stars, DiMaggio and Gehrig, figured prominently in the game. Gehrig, one of the greatest sluggers in baseball, got his first hit in four games. It was a home run. DiMaggio, the sensational young rookie who has been stealing the applause all year, made the game's only error and is most responsible for the loss.

APPLING'S CAREER.

Appling's career has been an amazing one. He came from the Oglethorpe campus to the Crackers and was signed to a contract which guaranteed him a 20 per cent slice of his purchase price.

They did this in order to get him to sign for a small cash sum, he taking the gamble on being good enough to be sold.

And so help me, at the end of the season he was sold for a sum of $20,000, which is important money in any language. He had to go to Landis to get his $4,000, but he got it.

GOLFING PROGRESS.

Capital City's plans to install a sprinkling system which will care of fairways as well as greens, is but another indication at Atlanta intends to remain the golfing capital of the south.

No other club in the south has such a sprinkling system. It would mean a perfect course at all times regardless of drought.

Old Pappy Beckett, who is right proud of his course as it is, will bust his vest buttons off when the sprinkler system installed.

Dick Hamel, recovering from an appendicitis operation post-haste, recovered from a rain storm, a Memphis and took his first work out with the Crackers club. Hamel batted with the pitchers and took a workout in the outfield during regular hitting practice.

"I'm feeling great," the center fielder declared.

On the other hand, Big Jim Lindsey, Crackers pitcher, has under the care of a doctor at his hotel. Big Jim, who has a temperature ranging between 103 and 104, is said to be suffering from a recurrence of malarial. His condition is not believed serious, but he will be lost to the club for several days.

By Jack Troy.

The Knoxville Smokies laid down a screen of timely hits behind the eighth-pitching of the veteran Ray Moss last night to take the first game of the series from the league-leading Crackers, 6 to 2.

Uncle Bill Thomas, ace Southern league pitcher, was elected to go out of the box by the Smokies, but he retired for a pinch-hitter in the eighth and Bill Schmidt finished the game.

Dean, the tireless, was superb as his whiplash right heralded the doom and defeat of the proud American league sliders. The "Great Man" from the St. Louis gas house didn't allow a single hit in the three innings he worked.

Tom Evans, pitcher for the Crackers, had a perfect game, but he caught Lou off first a few seconds later with a perfect throw to Ripper Collins, gas house associate. Appling died on first.

Hubbell also pitched runless ball, yielding two hits and one walk in three innings, but downed like his old self. Steve, set in like a pitcher to shut out the enemy, striking Fox out in the eighth with two out and runners on third and first.

The biggest disappointment, outside of DiMaggio, was the size of the crowd.

Where a capacity turnout of 42,000 had been anticipated by baseball men, particularly because of Boston's revived interest in the game and the ideal weather, the bleachers were half empty and the grandstand was jammed. The attendance was scarcely half the total of either the first two games, played in Chicago and New York, and was a far cry from the 69,812 that saw the Americans score their third straight

DAVIS VICTIMIZED.

Davis, the man whose great right arm has brought the Cubes back into the thick of the National league pennant scramble, was victimized by three mistakes in the three-inning eighth.

The Crackers secured only eight hits in the eighth, but their last three were all singles, and with two runs.

The Smokies scored their other runs in the first, third and sixth. Two went across in the third to break up a short-lived draw. The Crackers managed to obtain.

Manager Neil Caldwell presented the most dazzling eight-place club in Atlanta, from the first game to see. There were 3,134 paid customers in the stands and they apparently enjoyed the hustle and the bustle of the invaders, who were out there taking advantage of every opportunity.

Moss seemed to have a lot of stuff and the added hitting power of the champions was a factor in missing factors for the evening.

The Crackers secured only eight hits and in only two innings made their hits count for runs. The rest of the time Moss was a rolling stone. And a rolling stone gathers no moss.

Knoxville came through with very fine support both after and in the eighth.

The Smokies collected 12 hits altogether. Marshall Mauldin, Atlanta boy, secured three doubles in five trips and Earl Webb, returning to the lineup after a couple of days' rest, poled two doubles and a single in four trips.

BASE RUNNING.

Stanley Bach, former Kentucky football star who had a trial with the Crackers in the spring, contributed the best base running of the night when he scored from first on a short hit by Earl Webb. Bach glanced to see where the throw was going before he rounded third and breezed on home when he saw Dave Harris relaying to second.

Bud Thomas, yielding nine hits in the eighth innings he worked, struck out 10 Smokies. It so happened that when he struck out the last, he had the hits counted.

Bobby Duham will face either Jim Mooney or Russell Bauers in the second game at 4:30 this afternoon. Al Williams and Emil Leonard will work the next two games that order.

The Smokies appeared plenty determined in the first inning, but there was only one run on three hits as Thomas struck out Webb and Mueller with runners in scoring position.

Mauldin doubled to left on the first-pitched ball. Frazier struck to right, then batted to right, and Mauldin to third. Thomas ended the threat by fanning Webb and Mueller.

The Crackers evened it up in the second when Chatham singled and Hill doubled, but the hustling Smokies again went into the lead in the third by scoring a couple more.

McGraw recovered a Texas league in a double play of speed base running. Hooks made a great stop of first. Bach drew a walk. Then Webb doubled to left. The fielding was a big slow and both Mauldin and Bach scored. Mueller struck out to end the inning.

The Smokies scored their fourth run of the game in the sixth when Webb singled, advanced on Blair's error and scored when Hooks let Rhodes' hopper elude him.

The final runs came in the ninth on a home run by Frazier on base, who had singled, on base ahead of him.

The Crackers held their 10-game lead as second-place Nashville lost to Memphis.

Bobby Crew's Visit to Warsaw Is Filled With Colorful Activities

By Sally Forth.

BOBBY CREW, daughter of the Henry B. Scotts, is truly having the time of her life while visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ludwik Szoloman in Warsaw, Poland. Mrs. Szoloman is the former Edith Angier, of Atlanta, and a lifelong friend of Bobby's mother. During the young Atlanta's visit all kinds of parties are being given in her honor, and when Bobby is not partying she divides her time between tennis and polo matches and mingling with members of the American legation at the dinner-dances given by the American group in Warsaw every two weeks.

Bobby is quite a favorite among the social set in the foreign country, and she numbers among her admirers some of the most prominent members of the Polish aristocracy. Recently she and Mr. and Mrs. Szoloman went by plane to the famous Polish resort, Oslo, where they spent an enjoyable week-end. At present, Bobby and her charming hosts are attempting to decide whether to spend a few weeks on the French Riviera or to take a North Cape cruise.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott will leave on August 1 for a six-week visit at Atlantic City, and at the end of this time they will go to New York to welcome their daughter upon her return to her native shores. In the meantime, Bobby is collecting quite a series of interesting experiences about which to tell her friends when she returns to the city.

STATELY, blonde Mrs. R. V. Winchester is one of the most attractive visitors the summer season has brought to town. She and her lovely young daughter, Patricia, arrived last Friday by motor from their home in Tucson, Ariz., to visit Mrs. A. L. Fowler at her home on Eleventh street.

Mrs. Winchester and Mrs. Fowler are lifelong friends, having gone to school together during their "hair-ribbon" days in Orange, Texas. And this is their first visit together in more than a decade, so you can imagine the grand time they have reminiscing.

Mrs. Fowler and her guests will leave by motor the latter part of the week for Linville, N. C., where Mrs. Fowler will visit Mrs. Cyrus Strickler at her summer home. Mrs. Winchester and her daughter will continue to Washington, D. C., for a visit, after which they will go to the coast of Maine for the remainder of the summer.

ATLANTANS suffering from the current 90-degree weather will envy Ida Thomas, who at this writing is sleeping under blankets and wearing her fur coat. With her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Keyes, of Miami, Ida is enjoying an extensive tour of the midwest and is at present at Crater Lake, Oregon.

Ida says that she has been freezing for the past week, and included in her June in January activities was a visit to Lassen National park in northern California, which, among its other notable attractions, boasts of the only active volcano within the United States and is known as Lassen peak. The visit was quite exciting she relates, for they saw a seismograph, one of those scientific machines which register the automatic record of an earthquake shock.

From Crater Lake the group will go to Vancouver Island and then to the Forbidden Plateau on a snow hunting trip, where it snowed snow. From there they will go to Banff Springs and Lake Louise, while other stops on their itinerary include many interesting points in Alaska, Canada and northern United States.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE JAMES McREYNOLDS, of the United States supreme court, is a frequent guest of Judge Price Gilbert. The pair of aforementioned distinguished gentlemen were classmates at college. "Let Your Stars Guide You"

By BERNICE DENTON PIERSON, Foremost American Astrologer.

"One ship drives East and another drives West: With the set of the sails and not the gales: Which tell us the way to go.""ATLANTA'S WHO'S WHO IN THE ZODIAC."

COLONEL SAM M. MOSCOW.

February 3 marks the natal day of Colonel Sam M. Moscow, one of Atlanta's most prominent and influential citizens. This brings his birth date under the influence of Zodiacal sign Aquarius, the sign of popularity, intellectuality, kind-heartedness.

The house position of the sun in Colonel Moscow's interesting chart promises worldly honors, vitality, energy and force, independence and enterprise. It throws much emphasis upon long travels, giving success and honors far distant from the place of birth. This is evidenced by the fact that he was born in London, came to America as a child and lived in Boston for a number of years before making his residence in Atlanta. A pioneer in the moving picture industry, he is southern division manager for one of the larger producing corporations. Some years ago he was appointed colonel on the staff of Georgia's governor.

Colonel Moscow's chart shows him to possess a very practical mind. He will thoroughly decide how his obstacles should be met before entering upon a plan of action. His chart indicates also a person of indomitable purpose, one who will carry through the plans that are undertaken.

The Saturn-Neptune position gives the power of concentration, considerability, shrewdness and tenacity. The Saturn-Sun position gives great capacity for work and high ideals. The Venus-Sun position adds a love for music and the fine arts.

Jupiter, trine the sun, becomes the sun, the sun, becomes the promise, not only of continued success, but also of a long and useful life.

You can get your complete astrological forecast through The Constitution, compiled by Bernice Denton Pierson, one of America's best known astrologers. Mrs. Pierson does not profess the ability to tell fortunes, to foretell the future, or to solve personal problems, but she can give you a good and reliable forecast. She can tell the position of the sun and planets at the time of your birth, carefully worked out, according to the strict rules of astrology. The three became lost in the Atlantic ocean while fishing off the coast from Jacksonville Beach.

They left Mayport, at the mouth of the St. Johns river, in the early hours of the morning and sailed out to the open banks of land offshore. During the morning the compass was accidentally broken and they were without any means of direction, since the sun was overhead.

The compass is believed to be the first instrument to show authoritatively the relative standing of the leading candidates so soon after the nominations.

More than 100,000 ballots were distributed in the poll by mail and by personal interviewers to a cross-section of voters in every walk of life. Part of the ballots were sent out directly after Governor Landon's nomination and the remainder were sent to a comparable cross-section following the demoralization convention. The poll will reflect political sentiment for the period from June 12 to July 6. Every four weeks until election the Institute will keep the score up to date by means of further polls.

They experienced some of the pangs of the well known Ancient Mariner when their water supply ran out in the afternoon, Judge Moore said.
